INTRODUCTION

The first pharmaceutical industry was started in the year 1901 in Bengal<sup>(1)</sup>. The main aim of establishing the pharmaceutical industry is to provide pharmaceutical substances as clinically useful medicines to the public to counteract diseases and disorders<sup>(2)</sup>. The drugs manufactured by these companies were useful to a greater extent in rectifying the pathological conditions of the human body and also in improving health<sup>(3)</sup>. The number of drugs available is not good enough in combating diseases and disorders. The advance of science and technology struck the minds of pharmaceutical chemists, manufacturing chemists, formulating bodies, entrepreneurs, and other related stakeholders to establish the pharmaceutical industry to serve the world to meet the requirements of the drugs to tackle the emerged and emerging diseases, as there were feeble medicines available to the public. As the medicines and drugs are consumed by both human beings and animals and hence, they must be pure because the impurities likely to be present in these may cause untoward effects<sup>(4)</sup>. The drugs which are manufactured from different countries are need to be exported to other countries where their requirements exists and most of the countries are importing formulated drugs in order to meet their requirements of drugs in need. The manufacture, sales, export, and import of drugs are governed by the Drug and Cosmetics Act and Rules 1945.<sup>(5)</sup>

The persons engaged in the extraction and isolation, manufacture, analysis, preclinical and clinical trials, quality control, quality assurance, technology transfer, and formulation of drugs, including meeting the regulatory requirements of drugs are need to be controlled by those professionals who have knowledge of pharmaceutical substances. such proccessionals are of pharmacy graduates, and the course of pharmacy was established throughout India as per the Pharmacy Act 1948<sup>(6)</sup>. Particularly in the state of Karnataka, there are approximately 138 pharmacy colleges, including the government college of pharmacy Bengaluru, imparting quality education in pharmacy and nurturing the students with skills. The pharma graduates from these institutions are approximately 4000 per year<sup>(7)</sup>; RGUHS website, and they can find their career (figure1) in the pharmaceutical sector mainly at pharmaceutical industries. In science, there are no reviews on the literature of pharmaceutical industries established in the state of Karnataka; pharmacy graduates are facing difficulties in locating pharmaceutical industries and various domains available to start their career. Keeping this in mind and to provide information, the present review mainly focuses on the locations of established pharmaceutical industries with their various domains in the state of Karnataka ( Table A TO D).

Research and Development (R&D)

The Research and Development (R&D) section of the Pharmaceutical Industry serves a pivotal role in drug discovery, preclinical studies, formulation development, analytical development, and process optimization. In reality, about 10 to 15% of revenue is spent on R&D activities from the annual income of the Pharmaceutical industry. Table 1; below includes various Pharmaceutical industries in Karnataka having R&D departments. One can find job opportunities as a formulation scientist, a synthetic scientist, and an analyst. Etc., in these industries.
