Abstract— Comfort in accommodation based on facilities and quality services play a very vital role in making meaningful any tourist destination. This study aimed at mapping accommodation Centre's locations and assessing them based on their functions, criteria and category in which they fall. Google earth satellite imagery was used to determine the spatial location of individual accommodation Centre consisting of hotels, hotel and suites, guests houses, conference/event centre's Inn, resorts etc. Three hundred and seventy (370) accommodations Centre's were determined through the Google earth satellite imagery. Other information was derived from online resource (internet based information) and manager of various kind of accommodation Centre's studied in Ibadan based on functions, criteria, categories (stars). Road map of Ibadan was extracted from the road map of Oyo State and lay over the data acquired to show the exact position of each accommodation centre using ArcGIS 10.2.1 software application package. The results of study showed the composite map of the generalized distribution of accommodation Centre's with 1, 2, 3, 4 with their respective color (yellow, red, blue, green) and maps based on their categories (1, 2, 3, 4,) Stars. Generally, the results showed that all accommodation Centre's studied fall within (1 to 4) Stars in category. It can be concluded from the results that the study will help the tourist to choose the best accommodation Centre they want. It will also help those that owned the accommodation centre's to improve the quality of their services and facilities. Also for those that want to establish their own accommodation centre's to determine the category in which they want their own to fall.

I. INTRODUCTION

An accommodation is a place that can house, protect and provide comfort befitting humans, e.g. a hotel room, guest house/place, Inn, conference centre's, resort, a camping pitch, or a meeting room etc. The usefulness of an accommodation centre in the life of a tourist cannot be overemphasized. Accommodation Centre's is a place that can accommodate people be it for personal use or general use. The personal use can be attributed to an individual such as a tourist who found his/her self in another local, State or regional environment and such accommodation Centre's can be a Hotel, Hotel and Suites, Guest House, Apartment etc. while the general use can be attributed to where group of people gathered together for an event be it for political/academic purpose and other forms of ceremonies and such can be attached to a conference/Event Centre's. Accommodation is a fundamental factor of the tourism product to the tourists. The type, extent and nature of accommodation determine the volume and value of tourism that is possible at any destination [1]. While tourist accommodation typically refers to traditional hotels of several categories, Alternative Accommodation refers to establishments such as Guest houses, Service apartments and Commercial homes that provide paid lodging to the tourists on short-term basis. They differ from the traditional hotels in terms of the limited and personalized services provided with an authentic; 'local' touch [2]. Alternative Accommodation has focused on the characteristics of the establishments themselves, their ownership, and their performance levels ([3], [4]). Particular attention has been directed at classifying the characteristics that define the Alternative Accommodation sector ([5], [6], [7], [3]). Variables such as number of guestrooms, price, host motivation, home or business, owner-operated or corporate enterprise, age of business, distinctive features, and emphasis on "guest-host experience" have been considered as definitional criteria for Alternative Accommodation. Generally, they are seen to provide personal service, some special opportunity or advantage to guests through location, and accommodation that is usually owner-operated [3]. Accommodation facilities such as guest houses, boarding houses and lodging houses are sometimes used synonymously with small hotels and B&B, and included as home-stay establishments.

The cost of guest house accommodation is often cheaper than that the traditional hotels and the requirements of a guest house or B and B establishment are typically basic but cozy [8]. Stringer 1981 [9] stated that Bed and Breakfast (B&B) category of Alternative Accommodation shared certain characteristics such as geographical location, unlicensed operation and no evening meal is served. Hsu and Lin 2011

[10] were motivated by the increasing demand for B and B accommodation as first choice accommodation in Taiwan among the domestic tourists to study their decision making when selecting accommodation while travelling. A customer's perception is affected by image, price, service encounter and evidence of service ([11], [12]). Oliver 1980 [13] had given critical statement regarding customer satisfaction that refers to the difference between prior expectation and perceived performance; when performance exceeds expectation, satisfaction occurs. Customer satisfaction is the result of subjective comparison of expectation and perception ([14], [15]). A Visitor's experience with accommodation is essential for understanding their satisfaction [4]. Lynch and Tucker 2003 [16] have argued that it is the personal interaction between hosts and guests that is the important feature of specialist accommodation.

Hotel is a building where you pay to have a room to sleep in and where you can eat meals (Cambridge dictionary [17]) or a hotel is an establishment that provides paid lodging on a short-term basis [18]. Dutta, et al., 2007 [19] opined that multinational hotels are globally recognized for their high standards of excellence in management, operations, and innovations

Hotel is the place where the tourist stops being] the traveler and become a guest. Hotel usually offer a full range of accommodations and services, which may includes suites, public dining, banquet facilities, lounges and entertainment facilities. It is considered as an industry whose main aim is also to make profits for the hoteliers, though this may change at times [20]. Customer expectations are "wants or desires of customer" [21]. Customer satisfaction is a psychological concept that involves the feeling of well-being and pleasure that results from obtaining what one hopes for and expects from an appealing product and/or service [22]. Customer expectations are "wants or desires of customer" (21), what they feel the providers should provide or it can be the prediction of future events.

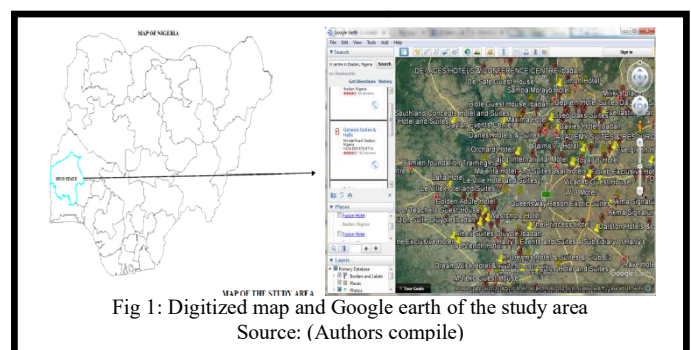

In hotel industry, the service performance is the critical to the customer satisfaction. However, the service failure is inevitable. Service failure is divided into process failure and outcome failure. Smith et al. 1999 [23] reported that a process is called failure if the core service is delivered in deficient manners, resulting in the loss of social resources; such as status, esteem; for the consumers. Hotel industry executives continue to emphasize customer loyalty as a key to sustaining a long term business success [24]. Almost 70 per cent of identifiable reasons why guests switched to competitors were associated with a dissatisfied service experience with a service provider during the service encounter [25]. Fu and Park 2001 [26] opined that the friendly service and individual attention were more important than tangible factors of service in influencing the elderly guests' behavioral intentions.

Guest house is smaller than average hotel and with a limited number of rooms and facilities [8]. Chu and Choi 2000 [27] examined the accommodation selection factors that influenced business and leisure travelers in Hong Kong. The six hotel selection factors identified were: Service Quality, Business Facilities, Value, Room and Front Desk, Food and Recreation, and Security. Interestingly, both business and leisure travellers held the same perceptions towards all the six hotel selection factors. McIntosh and Siggs 2005 [4] and Johnston-Walker 1999 [28] found that the motives and expectations of tourists in general are changing towards a greater desire for personalized experiences and service. For this study, it focuses on the accommodation Centre's that operated both in the day and day/night. Therefore, this study aimed at mapping the locations and assesses the accommodation Centre's based on their functions, criteria and categories within Ibadan metropolis, Oyo State, southwestern Nigeria using remote sensing and GIS.

II. STUDY AREA

Ibadan is one of the largest cities in tropical Africa and is the capital of Oyo State in Nigeria. It lies between geographical longitude 7°2'E and 7°40'E and latitude. 3°35'N and 4°10'N. It was founded in 1829. It is 128 km northeast of Lagos and 345 km southwest of Abuja, the federal capital, Nigeria. It consists of Eleven (11) Local Government Areas grouped together to what is called the Ibadan metropolitan or Ibadan land with six (6) in the outer areas and five (5) in the inner city as shown in (Fig. 1). It has the overall population density of 586 persons per km². Developed land increased from only 100 ha in 1830 to 12.5 km² in 1931, 30 km² in 1963, 112 km² in 1973, 136 km² in 1981, and 214 km² in 1988. Moreover, the population was estimated as 60 000 in 1856; and increased to about 200 000 in 1890; 625 000 in 1963. Today, it is almost 2 million [29]. The 2006 census show the population of about 2.6 million.

III. MATERIALS/METHODS

A. Material used

Software

1. Google earth imagery 2018 (for extraction of spatial location of schools)
2. ArcGIS 10.2.1 (Arcmap 10.2) application software package (for digitizing and graphics production)
3. Microsoft Excel spreadsheet (for data storage)
4. Microsoft word office 2007 (for typing)

Hardware

1. Laptop computer (Dell version for processing)
2. 32 giga-byte hard drive (data storage)
3. Hp Laserjet Printer (for document printing and correction/proof-reading)

B. Methods

For easy identification and mapping out of the spatial location/distribution of all the accommodation Centre's in Ibadan, the location of each accommodation centre was obtained using the Google earth imagery 2018. Google earth satellite imagery were used to determine the spatial location (x, y) coordinates of individual accommodation centre consisting of hotels, guests houses, commercial centre's, conference/event centre's Inn, resorts etc. Attributes such as name, Address/Location of the accommodation centre's were copied and stored in Microsoft excel worksheet. Three hundred and seventy (370) accommodation Centre's were determined through the Google earth satellite imagery. Other information was derived from online resource (internet based information) and manager of each of the accommodation Centre's studied in Ibadan based on functions, criteria, categories (stars). Also, the general condition ranges of each accommodation Centre's were obtained through oral interview by each manager of accommodation Centre's studied. Road map of Ibadan was extracted from the road map of Oyo State and lay over the (x, y) data acquired to show the exact position of each accommodation Centre using ArcGIS 10.2.1 software application package. In ArcGIS 10.2, the spatial statistic tools were selected, the Moran's I value, the P value/ Z score was calculated to assess the index based location. The value close to +1.0 indicates clustering, while a value close to -1.0 indicates dispersion.

There are two ways to categorize Accommodation Centre's. It is either by functions or by star ratings

C. Hotel Rating according to their functions

i. Hotel: is a commercial property especially for a tourist; they provide people with meals, lodging and other guest services. Before, the ranking of hotel are within 1 to 5 stars but with the modern technology, the hotels are ranked from 1star to 7 stars based on the facilities and services they provide. Hotels are meant for people who come to a city on short stay or a substantial longer stay either for ceremony, leisure purposes or business. Hotels offer wide range of services based on how much you afford to pay according to that scenario. All kinds of service requested for are provided in hotel.

Every need like the room service or laundry or housekeeping and stuff are provided in hotel. Having bigger area for food called Restaurant.

ii. Suite or All-Suite Hotel: A hotel in which all room has a living room and/or kitchen

iii. Guest house: is a house that offers accommodations for lodging guests, tourist who have no relatives to stay with where they found themselves. Guest houses are rated based on their cleanliness, services, quality of food, and hospitality by their attendants. The sizes of the Guest houses are usually smaller and provide a homely environment at a low price. They only limited number of people with limited set of services are accommodated and only provide bed and the breakfast for their customers.

iv. Inn: This can be characterized as a rural hotel which provided lodging, food and refreshments, and accommodations for travelers' horses. Inns have small area for food. Inns have limited food variety compare to hotels which have many varieties of cuisine.

Inns are generally located far from the cities.

v. Motel: This is usually designed for motorists and usually has a parking area for motor vehicles. It is in form of Single or double storied building with connected rooms. Also, having open walkways, exterior entrances. It is a lodging that provides short-term and long-term services usually located with good access to the national road network but with less guest comforts. It is often less expensive due to lack of amenities, basic rooms, locations, etc. Econo Lodge, Knights Inn, Motel 6, Super 8, and several other chains are usually motels.

vi. Conference Center: A specialized hotel (usually in a less busy but easily accessible location) designed and built almost exclusively to host conferences, exhibitions, seminars, training sessions, large meetings, etc.

vii. Event Center: This is a centre where occasional program like wedding, funeral service program, political forum etc. takes place. It does not all that containing a resting room. It is mainly use for a day program except for a program of more than one day. It always have a parking space.

viii. Residential Hotel or Apartment Hotel: This is a serviced apartment complex that uses a hotel-style mode of operation. It is more or less a way of renting an apartment, but with no fixed contracts and occupants can 'check-out' anytime they wish (Wikipedia)

ix. Resort Hotel: A hotel caters primarily to vacationers and tourist and typically offers more recreational amenities and services in a more aesthetically pleasing setting, than other hotels. These hotels are located in attractive and natural tourism destinations and their clientele are groups and couples that like adventure with sophistication and comfort. The attractions vary depending on the region and some might offer golf, tennis, scuba diving and, depending on the natural surroundings, may also arrange other recreational activities.

D. Accommodation Centre's Ratings According to Star by Category and Criteria

Ratings of accommodation Centre's exist so as to classify various Centres' based on their quality/standard. For accommodation Centre categories by stars, it implies that, the higher the number of stars, the more the luxury. Criteria based in accommodation Centre’s rankings/standards were based on food service, entertainment, view, room size, spa, fitness centre and ease of access and location. For the purpose of this study and based on the online resource (internet based information) and interview with the various manager of accommodation Centre’s provided in the study, they are classified into four categories namely; 1 star, 2 star, 3 star, 4 star.

i. One (1) Star: A One-Star accommodation Centre’s are centre’s with limited range of facilities, furnishing and refreshment having at least ten (10) ensuite bedrooms. It adheres to a high standard of facilities-wide cleanliness. It generally has location that is accessible with onsite representatives on a 24 hour, seven days a week basis.

ii. Two (2) Stars: This is Hotel that offers a higher standard of accommodating guests, with at least 20 well equipped ensuite bedrooms. Individual Guest Room has a telephone and a colored television with a minimum of parking area for at least 15 customers’ car.

iii. Three (3) Stars: These are Hotel offers that are more spacious, well-equipped furnished ensuite rooms. It also has high-class decorations; individual room is equipped with central air-conditioning, colored television, showers, valet and room service, on-site Restaurant, and a standard swimming pool. Having a minimum of 25 ensuite rooms.

iv. Four (4) Stars: These are Accommodation Centre’s with ensuite rooms that are exceptionally well furnished, with central air-conditioning, room and valet service, portorage and luggage handling services, standard swimming pool, excellent restaurant and cuisine, concierge, laundry, and other recreational facilities. The location of four star accommodation Centre’s and environment should be suitable for international standards. A Four Star Hotel also offers at least 40 ensuite rooms of which 20% of which must be Suites and 25% must be single rooms. It has at least one serviced elevator for both the Guests and the staff. Other facilities that it must have include enjoyed in four star hotels are fire detection facilities, closed circuit television (CCTV), a dining room, an internationally trained Manager, car park for at least 50 cars, Reception/Information Counter, Conference and Banquets Halls. All staff must be professionally trained.

Five Stars: The sample of accommodation centre’s that fall within the five star are international conference Centre, and majorly hotel and suites. These are usually internationally recognised branded Centre’s. Hotel part offering the highest standards and luxuries in its premises, with some of the finest architecture, ambience, accommodation, amenities, range of top-class guests and services provided. A Five Star Hotel should have a gym, a standard sized Swimming Pool, Cuisines, more than one Restaurant, Casino, on-site shopping facilities and other in-premises recreational facilities. For a hotel that is five Star Hotel, they offer at least one serviced lift/elevator for its Guests and another lift for its employees and goods. It must have at least 100 bedrooms; 25% of these rooms must be Suites and 20% must be Single Rooms. It must also have Gardens, a Lawn or Roof Garden, Reception and Information Centre, 24hours Concierge and Porter Service, a central Air-Conditioning System, CCTV, Wake-up Call Service, Conference and Banquet Halls, at least 2 Restaurants, Dining Rooms, 24hours coffee shop, a well-equipped Bar and a Car Park for at least 50 Guest cars. Its manager must be internationally trained and should speak, where possible, more than one internationally recognised language. At least 80% of its other personnel must be trained in providing the highest quality of hospitality services.

E. General condition of the accommodation centre’s studied from online resource and interview

Table below showed the general conditions of the accommodation centre’s studied.

Table 1: General Conditions of the Accommodation Centre’s studied.

S/No.	Accommodation Centre’s	Conditions
1.	Hotel	Fair to Very Good
2.	Suite or All-Suite Hotel	Good to Excellent
3.	Inn	Fair to Good
4.	Guest House	Poor to Good
5.	Motel	Poor to Good
6.	Resort Centre’s	Fair to Good
7.	Conference Centre’s	Fair to Wonderful
8.	Event Centre’s	Fair to Very Good
9.	Residential Hotel or Apartment Hotel	Fair to Good

IV. RESULTS

The results presented here was as a result of data acquired based on individual location. Figure 2 showed the composite map of the general distribution of the accommodation Centre’s within Ibadan metropolis with yellow color for I star, red color for 2 stars, blue color for 3 stars and green color for 4 stars. Figure 3-6 showed the spatial locations of accommodation Centre’s based on their categories (stars) that individual accommodation Centre falls.

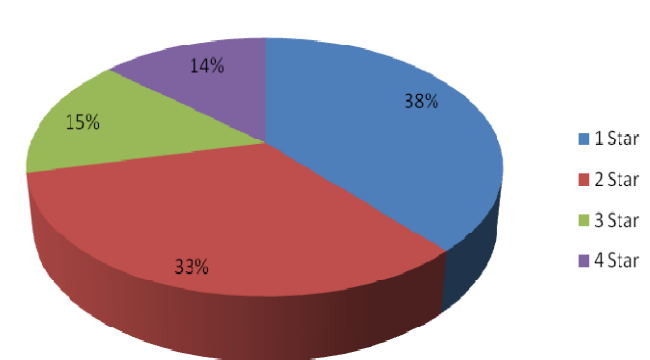

Chart 1b: % of Accommodation Centre's by Star

F. Discussion of Results

The result showed a total number of three Hundred and seventy (370) accommodations Centre's (appendix 1). It showed that one hundred and forty two (143) accommodation Centre's falls in one (1) star category which showed 38.65% (chart 1b) of the total and implies that higher number by sample and the lowest in category by stars (appendix 1 & figure 3). One hundred and twenty two (122) accommodation Centre's falls in two (2) star categories this showed 32.97% (chart 1b) of the total (appendix 1 & figure 4). Fifty six (56) accommodation Centre's falls in three (3) star categories this showed 15.14% (chart 1b) of the total (appendix 1 & figure 5). Fifty (49) accommodation Centre's falls in four (4) star categories which showed 13.24% (chart 1b) of the total and implies that lower number by sample and highest in category by star (appendix 1 & figure 6). Chart 1a showed the categorical trend of the accommodation Centre's. Generally from the interview and online resource carried out for the study, none of the accommodation Centre's had a standard that can be compared to other international standard when compared with their facilities.

V. CONCLUSION

Accommodation centre's locations within Ibadan metropolis were mapped and assessed based on their functions, criteria and category. Satellite imagery plays an important role in easy location of places, features as it is represented on the ground. From the results, it was observed from the generalized map that accommodation Centre's are concentrated between the middle and upper part of the metropolis which are clustered in nature. The results will help the tourist and the general populace to choose the best accommodation Centers' of their choice. Also from the interview, some of the hotels, hotels & suites, Inn, Guest house, resorts hotels, conference/event Centre's needs to make their accommodation centre's more attractive to the customers and also attendance to customer should be improved so as to meet up with the international standard. It can be concluded that all accommodation Centre's studied falls within 1-4 Stars by category and none of the accommodation centre's falls within five (5) stars within the metropolis.
